

Recognizing the academic and social benefits as well as the importance of early access to World Languages, in 1984 the Louisiana Board of Elementary and Secondary Education (BESE) mandated (Bulletin 741) that World Language be taught in grades four through eight, making World Language education more accessible to Louisiana’s students.

With equitable access to attain proficiency in World Languages, students will achieve academically, communicate with cultural understanding, and succeed in a global community.

Recognizing the academic and social benefits as well as the importance of early access to World Languages, in 1984 the Louisiana Board of Elementary and Secondary Education (BESE) mandated (Bulletin 741) that World Language be taught in grades four through eight, making World Language education more accessible to Louisiana’s students.

With equitable access to attain proficiency in World Languages, students will achieve academically, communicate with cultural understanding, and succeed in a global community.
