Every AP[®] student deserves the chance to earn college credit, but not all pursue it.

So what stands in their way?

Nearly all students start the year with high expectations for themselves...

Fall: Percentage intending to take
the AP Exam

White Male

African American
Female

...but confidence erodes over the course of the year.

Fall Registration

More than half of AP schools already have fall registration.

Fall Registration

Putting fall registration into practice

In the 2017-18 school year, we instituted fall exam registration in schools that displayed historically higher-than-average rates of AP students opting out of the exam.

40,000+
students

100+
schools

What happened next?

Fall Registration

Student participation increased.

AP Exam Takers

Fall Registration

More students earned scores of 3+.

AP Exams Taken by Low-Income Students: Scores of 3+

Fall Registration

Scores of 3+ increased across student groups.

- White and Asian students
- Underrepresented minority students

Socioeconomic

- Moderate/high-income students
- Low-income students

STEM

- Male STEM students
- Female STEM students

Fall Registration

Expanding fall registration

In the 2018-19 school year, we expanded the number of schools that implemented fall registration.

180,000+
students

800+
schools

What's happening now?

Fall Registration

Student participation accelerated.

Overall growth in AP Exams taken/ordered

Fall Registration

Fall registration dramatically accelerates equity and access. In just one year of fall registration, schools sped up the work of AP equity – the share of AP exam registrations for students of color – by seven years.

Fall Registration

“Although I had my doubts . . .

[the] result was that the students stayed engaged in the subject through the spring semester. In the past, students who were not signed up for the exam tended to lose focus towards the end of the school year.”

— AP Teacher, 2017-18 Pilot

Fall Registration

"It's definitely been a constant reminder that I'm taking an AP class. I'm here to do work and I'm here to make sure that work is shown."

— AP Student, 2017-18 Pilot

The results are clear.

Leaving exam registration in the spring ignores the clear benefits of committing early.

That's why we're moving it to the fall.

Fall Registration

AP Exam Fees: The base exam fee is not changing.

Course at a Glance

Plan
The course at a glance provides a useful visual organization of the AP U.S. Government and Politics curricular components, including:

- Sequence of units, along with approximate weighting and suggested pacing. Please note, pacing is based on 45-minute class periods, meeting five days each week.
- Progression of topics within each unit, including the location of required foundational documents or Supreme Court cases.
- Spiraling of the big ideas and skills across units.

Teach
DISCIPLINARY PRACTICES
Disciplinary practices are embedded throughout the course.

BIG IDEAS
Big ideas spiral across topics and units.

Assess
Assign the Personal Progress Checks—either as homework or in class—for each unit. Each Personal Progress Check contains formative multiple-choice and free-response questions. The feedback from the Personal Progress Checks shows students the areas where they need to focus.

Instructional Strategies

The AP U.S. Government and Politics course framework outlines the concepts and skills students must master in order to be successful on the AP Exam. In order to address those concepts and skills effectively, it helps to incorporate a variety of instructional approaches and best practices into your daily lessons and activities. You can help students develop mastery of the disciplinary practices and reasoning processes by engaging them in learning activities that allow them to apply their understanding of course concepts. You may consider the strategies in the table that follows as you plan instruction.

Strategy	Definition	Purpose	Example
Create Representations	Students create tables, graphs, or other infographics to interpret text or data.	Helps students organize information using multiple ways to present data.	Give students a set of data, such as voting patterns by gender and ethnicity, and have them create a graph that best shows the data and the trends.
Critique Reasoning	Through collaborative discussion, students critique the arguments of others, questioning the author's perspective, evidence presented, and reasoning behind the argument.	Helps students learn from others as they make connections between concepts and learn to support their arguments with evidence and reasoning that make sense to peers.	Using Federalist No. 70, have students critique the argument for a strong executive. Have them examine the author's perspective and the evidence and reasoning he uses to support his position.
Close Reading	Students read, reread, and analyze small chunks of text word for word, sentence by sentence, and line by line.	Develops comprehensive understanding of text.	When students are reading the required foundational documents, have them highlight relevant words and passages that support the author's claim.
Debate	Students present an informal or formal argument that defends a claim with reasons while others defend different claims about the same topic or issue. The goal is to debate ideas without attacking the people who defend those ideas.	Gives students an opportunity to collect and orally present evidence supporting the arguments for or against a proposition or issue.	Have students debate which branch of government is the most powerful, using evidence and reasoning to support their claims.

Disciplinary Practice 1: Apply political concepts and processes to scenarios in context

Political scientists practice their discipline through the application of knowledge to different contexts and scenarios and the current political environment. Student in the AP U.S. Government and Politics course have this same opportunity through this disciplinary practice.

The table that follows provides examples of questions and instructional strategies for teaching students to successfully apply political concepts in the course.

Disciplinary Practice 1: Concept Application

Skill	Questions/Tasks	Sample Activities	Sample Instructional Strategies
1.A. Describe political principles, institutions, processes, policies, and behaviors.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Describe characteristics and traits of terms and concepts. Classify terms and concepts. 	Students need to demonstrate understanding by describing and explaining before they can apply their knowledge. So, before beginning a deeper discussion on gerrymandering and congressional elections, have students describe how members of the House of Representatives are elected and the length of their terms. (Topics 2.1 and 2.3)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Look for a Pattern
1.B. Explain political principles, institutions, processes, policies, and behaviors.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify and describe the steps and/or stages in a process. Explain how and why a process changes. Explain the significance of a process. 	Ask students to explain the process of congressional apportionment and the principles and processes involved in drawing congressional districts. (Topic 2.3)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Discussion Group Graphic Organizer Making Connections
1.C. Compare political principles, institutions, processes, policies, and behaviors.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify the relevant, specific categories for comparing similarities and differences. Explain the reasons for the relevant similarities and differences. Explain the relevance, implications, and/or significance of the similarities and differences. 	Make sure students understand that they need to identify relevant and specific similarities and differences. They should compare like factors. Ask students to identify and then explain relevant, specific similarities and differences among liberal, conservative, and libertarian ideologies. Have them compare like categories, such as economic policy or social policy.
