Test Security Irregularities Report
2014 – 2015 School Year

OVERVIEW

Annually, the LDOE implements rigorous test security protocols as a means of protecting the integrity of statewide assessment results—prior to, during, and after testing. Per Bulletin 118, the Louisiana Department of Education (LDOE) provides a yearly summary of any testing irregularities for the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education (BESE). This report provides a summary of (a) testing security procedures throughout testing and (b) irregularities resulting from the 2014-2015 assessments.

PRIOR TO TESTING

The LDOE, in coordination with Local Education Agencies (LEAs), seeks to eradicate both administrative irregularities and cheating through a variety of strategies.

The LDOE implements the following procedures prior to testing to ensure the proper administration of statewide assessments:

- outlines the rules for test administration through Bulletin 118
- audits LEA test security policies to ensure compliance with all regulations and best practices
- provides online and in-person regional test security trainings
- provides guidance and tools, such as the online testing schedule guidance, to district test coordinators on ways to prevent irregularities

LEAs take the following actions to ensure proper test administration:

- train all staff in test security and administration
- review manuals to ensure clarity for students and the test administrator
- ensure schools and classrooms are prepared physically for testing
- update IEP, IAP, PNP, and LEP forms to ensure students are receiving the proper accommodations
- organize materials at the school and district levels to ensure the proper accountability for all secure materials

DURING TESTING

During testing, the LDOE and LEAs ensure compliance with test security policies through ongoing monitoring and support, including the following:

- Assessment Hotline: Districts can call assessment administration staff daily during test administration and receive real-time support.
- Assessment Inbox: Districts can email less urgent questions to assessment@la.gov. The LDOE tracks all incoming questions about test administration to determine if additional guidance is needed around a recurring issue.

During the 2014-2015 assessment year, 37 LDOE staff conducted 215 site visits in districts, charter, and nonpublic scholarship schools. Site visits included monitoring of the administration of ACT, PLAN, EXPLORE, End-of-Course (EOC), LEAP, ELDA, LAA1, and LAA2 assessments. The LDOE prioritized sites with a record of prior infractions during previous test administrations; the remaining visits were randomly scheduled and/or included some sites that were requested by districts for monitoring. Districts received reports that outlined the monitors' findings after each visit.

Of the 215 sites monitored during the 2014-2015 school year, eight had infractions. Examples of infractions include but are not limited to (a) multiple staff having access to the secure testing room at sites; (b) test administrators not reading directly from the manual; and (c) test administrators not properly exiting online testing portals. At sites with infractions, the LDOE notified the district test coordinator and LEA superintendent so that issues could be addressed swiftly.

MINOR INFRACTIONS

a. Administrative Errors

An administrative error occurs when the test administrator or proctor does not administer the test in a way that is consistent with the policies and procedures outlined by the LDOE (e.g., students are provided with the wrong accommodations, providing students with less time than is allowed on an assessment). Egregious administrative errors occur when the test administrator or proctor is purposely interfering with the test integrity. Major cases of administrative error can include but are not limited to coaching students during the test, allowing students to view questions prior to test day, and changing the responses on a student's test.

During the 2014-2015 school year, the LDOE recorded nine administrative error voids at six different schools across the state, as outlined in Appendix I.

b. District-reported Voids

Each year, districts are required to train all test administrators on proper test administration procedures, including test security policies. If schools or districts find a violation of test security, the violations must be reported to the LDOE. When LDOE staff confirm a violation of Bulletin 118 policies, tests are considered invalid and are subsequently voided.

During the 2014-2015 school year, the LDOE recorded 1,100 district-reported voids observed at 320 different schools across the state.

The full list of district-reported voids is found in Appendix I.

c. Voids by Testing Program

- LEAP (Grades 3 through 8): During the 2014-2015 school year, there were 738 LEAP voids observed at 193 different schools across the state.
- EOC: During the 2014-2015 school year, there were 207 EOC voids observed at 82 different schools across the state.
- ELDA/LAA1/LAA2: During the 2014-2015 school year, there were 24 ELDA/LAA1/LAA2 voids observed at eight different schools across the state.
- ACT: During the 2014-2015 school year, there were 151 ACT voids observed at 85 different schools across the state.
- PLAN: During the 2014-2015 school year, there were 50 PLAN voids observed at 15 different schools across the state.
- EXPLORE: During the 2014-2015 school year, there were 89 EXPLORE voids observed at 41 different schools across the state.

The full list of voids by testing program can be found in Appendix I.

AFTER TESTING

At the conclusion of testing, the LDOE conducts a series of analytics to ensure the reliability of test scores. Investigations follow, as needed.

1. Analyses

a. Erasure Analysis

An erasure occurs when responses on assessments are changed. Erasure analyses are conducted to investigate excessive wrong-to-right erasures on student answer documents for the multiple-choice portions of the test. Answer documents with wrong-to-right erasures that exceed the state average by more than four standard deviations are identified for further investigation and/or voided.

During the 2014-2015 school year, 21 tests were flagged for excessive erasure marks. The full list of erasure analysis voids and flags are found in Appendix II.

b. Plagiarism

During the scoring process, the assessment vendor examines written responses for suspicious and/or common elements—potential signs of plagiarism violations. Typical violations result from a student using unauthorized materials during testing, a student copying another student's responses, or a teacher interfering and answer signaling. Documents flagged by the scorers are sent to LDOE Assessment and Accountability Administration staff, who review the responses to determine if the tests are to be voided. The review consists of three to five LDOE content experts completing a blind review to determine whether or not plagiarism occurred. If all content experts are unanimous in their determination of plagiarism, then the tests are voided.

During the 2014-2015 school year, LDOE recorded 150 plagiarism voids observed at 52 different schools across the state. The full list of voids is found in Appendix I.

2. Investigations

a. LEA Investigations

Bulletin 118 requires that districts investigate any testing irregularity that results in a voided test. The district must submit a written report to the LDOE within 30 days of notice of a voided test.

b. Office of the State Inspector General (IG) Investigations

The LDOE takes all allegations of cheating seriously. When schools exhibit extremely unusual gains and/or significant evidence of malfeasance, schools are turned over to the Office of the State Inspector General for further investigation.

As a result of either investigation—LEA or IG—teachers and school leaders dismissed for cheating may lose their professional certification, per BESE rule.

CONCLUSION

Louisiana's continued implementation of rigorous, zero-tolerance policies, as well as its expanding supports for schools and LEAs, resulted in a largely successful test administration in 2014-2015. From site monitoring, the LDOE learned that access to tests was generally controlled and security procedures were followed. Furthermore, the LDOE found that test coordinators and test administrators were knowledgeable about security procedures and worked hard to ensure positive testing environments. However, when an irregularity occurred such that a test was voided, the school and the LEA received a zero for that child in the assessment index when school and district performance scores were calculated.

For more unusual results, the LDOE continues to refer information to the Inspector General for further investigation. Per Bulletin 746, BESE may also revoke the teaching or educational leadership certificate of any individual who is dismissed from an LEA because of cheating on statewide assessments.

On the LEAP assessments (grades 3 through 8), schools experienced an increase in the number of voids, as compared to the 2013-2014 school year. The increase is related to the implementation of a new assessment in grades 3 through 8 English language arts and mathematics. Specifically, the new assessment required new administrative processes and manuals that were less familiar to students and educators. Additionally, the use of consumable test booklets (i.e., the question and answer are in the same document, rather than two separate documents) is a best practice for students; however, the consumable format prevented the vendor from sealing separate sections of the exam, which resulted in students unintentionally working ahead.

To address these concerns, in preparation for Spring 2016 assessments, the Department is involving district test coordinators in the test manual review process in order to ensure that the directions and processes are as clear and simple as possible. Additionally, Louisiana's LEAP assessment vendor secured a method for sealing test booklets to prevent students from working ahead.
