The State Superintendent of Education may disallow test results that may have been achieved in a manner that is in violation of test security.

In cases in which test results are not accepted because of a breach of test security or action by the Louisiana Department of Education, any programmatic, evaluative, or graduation criteria dependent upon the data shall be deemed not to have been met.

Any teachers or other school personnel who breach test security or allow breaches in test security shall be disciplined in accordance with the provisions of R.S. 17:416 et seq., R.S. 17:441 et seq., R.S. 17:81.6 et seq., policy and regulations adopted by the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, and any and all laws that may be enacted by the Louisiana Legislature.

Grades 9–11

It took Auntie a week to make my first pair of boot moccasins.

She sat in her rocker each evening while she worked. With a knife, Auntie cut the leather into strips. She sewed the strips together to make my boots.

When Auntie finished, she soaked the boots in water.

The boots were still wet when I put them on. I wore them until they dried. The boots fit me well.

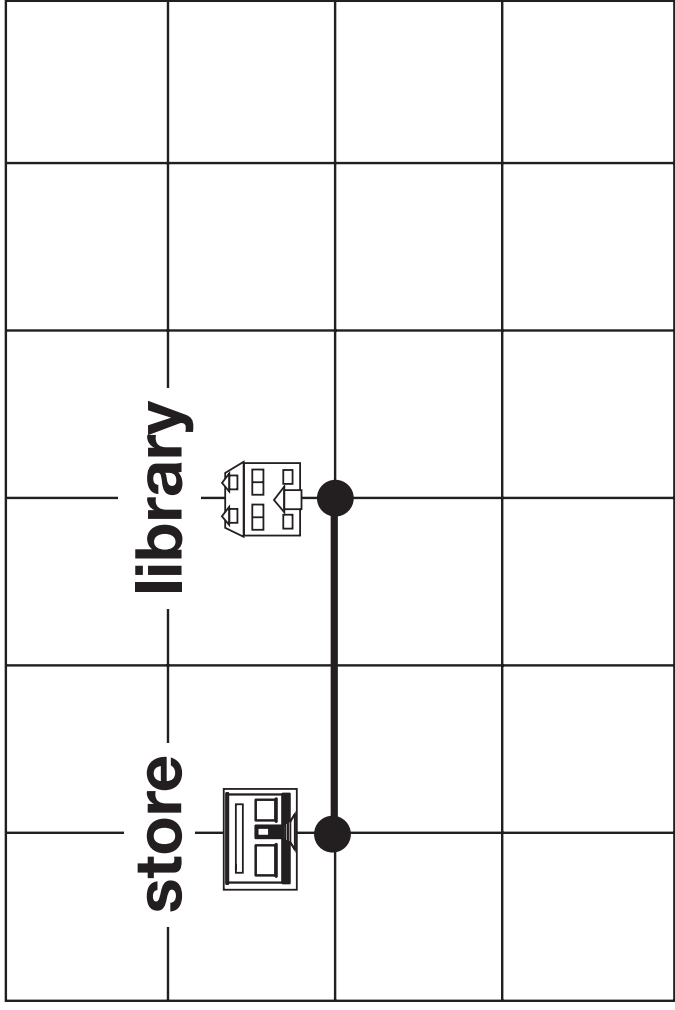

She put the coat on a hanger.

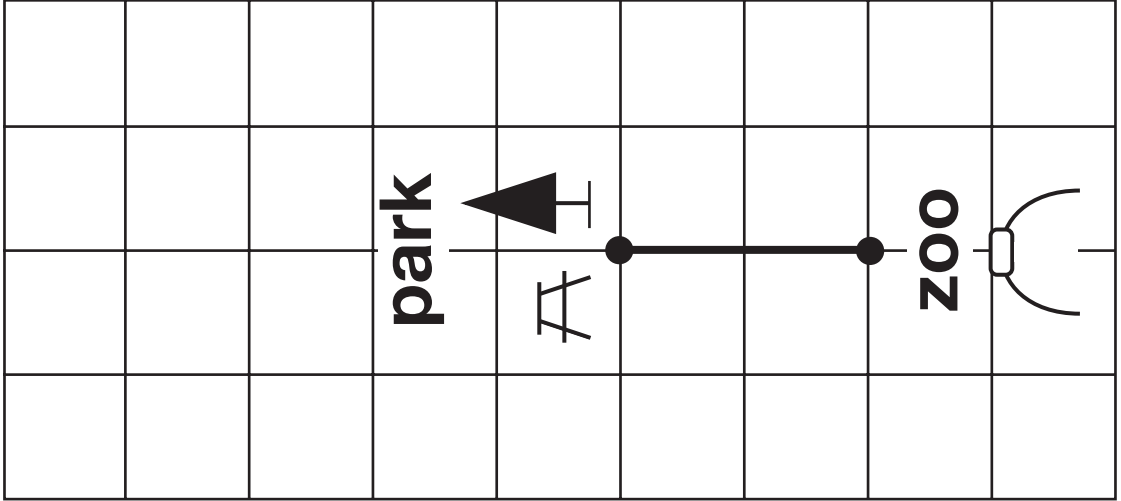

The dog sat quietly.

She soaked the boots in water.
