2020 Census Self-Response Weekly Highlights

Fried Fish with a Side of Census

Saints Peter and Paul Knights of Columbus Council 7568 held a free hot meal giveaway, and over 1000 fried fish meals were given out. Each car that came through received a flier reminding them how important the Census is to the Scott community with their meal. The Knights have supported the 2020 Census by inviting speakers to their gatherings before COVID19, and by providing funding for banners and yard signs that can be seen throughout the city.

Census Gets 'Toted' Away

State Representative Matthew Willard held a free food pantry at St. Raymond and St. Leo the Great Catholic Church in conjunction with Second Harvest Food Bank and Councilmember Kristen Gisleson Palmer. The food was placed inside 2020 Census totes to help bring awareness to the 2020 Census and how important it is to respond and be counted. As each bag was handed out, the volunteers spoke to those receiving the bags to ensure they had responded or would respond to the Census. The food bank, and census outreach, will continue every Friday for the foreseeable future.

ACLA Hands Out Food and Census Awareness

The Asociacion Cultural Latino-Acadiana (ACLA) held a food drive targeting the most in need in the Hispanic community. ACLA partnered with a locally known law firm serving the community to help expand its donations to reach a higher number of families. Each food bag included Census coloring books and promotional materials in Spanish to encourage participation.
