

Amanda Hollman

Executive Director, Nonpublic School Choice

Amanda.Hollman@la.gov

Amanda has served many roles in education in Louisiana, including working for the state Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, the Recovery School District, and as a middle school science teacher. Amanda directs the Nonpublic School Choice Team to ensure success of all nonpublic school choice programs and activities, including the Louisiana Scholarship Program, Tuition Donation Rebate Program, School Choice Program for Certain Students with Exceptionalities, annual nonpublic school approval process, Brumfield v. Dodd compliance process, home study and registered nonpublic schools.

Diana Noble

Director of Nonpublic School Activities

Diana.Noble@la.gov

Diana has worked in education in several capacities, including as a middle school teacher and as an education program specialist in the nonprofit sector. At the Department of Education, Diana oversees programmatic implementation of the Tuition Donation Rebate Program and School Choice Program. She also oversees the annual nonpublic school approval process and Brumfield v. Dodd compliance process.

Corrie Manieri

Director of the Louisiana Scholarship Program

Corrie.Manieri@la.gov

Corrie is a native New Orleanian who has worked in education in several capacities, including as an elementary and middle school teacher and as an education program specialist for the LDOE's Division of Special Education Support. As the Scholarship Program Director, Corrie provides direct support to school leaders and staff, assists with the implementation of the program, and creates systems to improve program efficiency.

Courtney Werpy

Scholarship Program Analyst

Courtney.Werpy@la.gov

Courtney moved to New Orleans in August of 2005 to attend Tulane University. She fell deeply in love with the city and decided to make New Orleans home. She is a former high school math teacher and has also worked in school operations and data management. As the Scholarship Program Analyst, Courtney oversees the student enrollment process, provides technical support to schools and families, and supports the Program Director.