

OVERVIEW

Louisiana has dramatically reduced the number of D and F rated schools in the past several years benefiting thousands of students who otherwise would have been assigned to a struggling school. At the same time, there remain schools in our state whose challenges are significant. Research indicates that nearly every effective model of school transformation includes some external support. Frustratingly, no comprehensive inventory of possible partners exists, and few—if any—opportunities exist for Local Education Agencies (LEA) and school leaders to meaningfully collaborate with industry experts and possible partners.

The School Redesign Summit seeks to address these gaps. Through a series of interactive sessions, the Summit will provide an opportunity for LEAs and school redesign partners to begin brainstorming strategies to improve the achievement of Louisiana’s persistently struggling schools.

LEA teams will leave the day-long School Redesign Summit with:

1. an understanding of school improvement strategies working in Louisiana and across the nation;
2. greater clarity on the improvement strategies they plan to use in their lowest performing schools; and,
3. a list of potential partners to support their work.

Partner organizations will leave the day-long School Redesign Summit with:

1. a deeper understanding of what the state needs to improve its struggling schools; and
2. the role they can play in supporting improvement for Louisiana students and schools.

After the Summit, each LEA may choose to submit their school redesign plans as part of a competitive grant process. Per the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), the Department will competitively award these funds to LEAs with the strongest evidence-based plans. These diverse plans will, in due course, make up Louisiana’s school turnaround component of the state’s ESSA plan.
