The Odyssey Unit Overview

SUMMATIVE UNIT ASSESSMENTS

CULMINATING WRITING TASK<sup>1</sup>

Reread the last three stanzas from “Ithaka” by Constantine Cavafy:

Keep Ithaka always in your mind.
Arriving there is what you are destined for.
But do not hurry the journey at all.
Better if it last for years,
so you are old by the time you reach the island,
wealthy with all you have gained on the way,
not expecting Ithaka to make you rich.

Ithaka gave you the marvelous journey.
Without her you would not have set out.
She has nothing left to give you now.

And if you find her poor, Ithaka won’t have fooled you.
Wise as you will have become, so full of experience,
you will have understood by then what these Ithakas mean.

What does it mean to “come home”? Consider Odysseus’s journey home to Ithaca and the symbolism of “home.” (L.9-10.5a-b) While he returned home in the literal sense, did he return to the same place as he left? Write an argumentative essay in which you determine which is more important to the development of Odysseus’ character and a theme of the epic—the journey or the goal? (RL.9-10.2, RL.9-10.3) Be sure to cite textual evidence and use grade-appropriate words and standard English grammar. (RL.9-10.1, W.9-10.1a-e, W.9-10.9a, W.9-10.10, L.9-10.2a-c, L.9-10.6)

Teacher Note: To strengthen their writing, students generate multiple drafts of their essays, responding to feedback from the teacher and peers to produce clear and coherent claims, evidence, and commentary that are appropriate to the task, purpose, and audience (W.9-10.4, W.9-10.5). Require students to use parallel structure (L.9-10.1a) and include various types of phrases and clauses (L.9-10.1b) in their writing. If time allows, students produce their final drafts using technology (typing essays in MLA format and uploading their essays to a class blog). (W.9-10.6, L.9-10.3a)

COLD-READ TASK<sup>2</sup>

Independently read lines 369-529 of Book Six of The Iliad by Homer, in which Hector says goodbye to Andromache, and then answer a combination of multiple-choice and constructed-response questions<sup>3</sup> about the text, using evidence for all answers. Sample questions:

1. According to the excerpt, Andromache is described as peerless and Hector indicates that he has “striven ever to excel always in the vanguard of the battle.” Based on these descriptions, what can be said about the two characters’ position in society? (RL.9-10.4, L.9-10.4a, L.9-10.6)
2. What are Hector’s internal motivations and conflicts? What specific lines most reveal these? (RL.9-10.1, RL.9-10.3)
3. Hector says, “None will send me to Hades before my time: though no man, noble or humble, once born can escape his fate.” What does this reveal about Hector’s attitude toward leaving Andromache to join the Trojan War? (RL.9-10.1, RL.9-10.3)
4. Select at least two themes from the following list that are developed in this excerpt:
  - Loyalty to family often conflicts with commitments to friends or oneself.
  - Belief in fate drives people to make radical choices.
  - Love requires us to make difficult choices between honor and pride in oneself.
  - Men are better suited than women for war.
  - Fathers and their sons should not be separated.
  - Romantic love can blind men to their true commitments.

In a multi-paragraph response, explain how Hector’s multiple, conflicting motivations in this scene develop a theme. Cite evidence from the excerpt to support your response. (RL.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2, RL.9-10.3, RL.9-10.10, W.9-10.1a-e, W.9-10.9a, W.9-10.10)

5. Compare and contrast the motivations of Hector and Odysseus. Consider how each character is driven to act based on familial obligations, pride, and the desire to build character through trials or battle. What is the significance of the similarities and differences? What do they convey about what Homer might be communicating about the human experience? (RL.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2, RL.9-10.3, W.9-10.9a, W.9-10.10)

<sup>2</sup> Cold-Read Task: Students read a text or texts independently and answer a series of multiple-choice and constructed-response questions. While the text(s) relate to the unit focus, the text(s) have not been taught during the unit. Additional assessment guidance is available at <http://www.louisianabelieves.com/resources/classroom-support-toolbox/teacher-support-toolbox/end-of-year-assessments>.

<sup>3</sup> Ensure that students have access to the complete texts as they are testing.

EXTENSION TASK<sup>4</sup>

1. As preparation for a Socratic seminar<sup>5</sup>, have students independently read three texts: an excerpt from No-Man’s Lands: One Man’s Odyssey Through The Odyssey by Scott Huler, “The Truth About Being a Hero” by Karl Marlantes, and “Back from War, but Not Really Home” by Caroline Alexander. (RI.9-10.10)
2. While students read the texts, have them complete the following:
  - Use a three-column graphic organizer to summarize each text: (column 1) Identify each claim or point made in the order it is made, (column 2) describe how each claim or point is developed and refined by particular phrases, sentences, paragraphs, or sections, and (column 3) identify the connections made between claims. (RI.9-10.1, RI.9-10.3, RI.9-10.5)
  - Reread the text and highlight or circle words and phrases that reveal the author’s attitude toward the subject of the text. (RI.9-10.4)
  - Determine a central idea of the text. (RI.9-10.2)
  - Determine and explain the author’s purpose based on the evaluation of the author’s tone, claims, and evidence. (RI.9-10.6)
3. Conduct a Socratic seminar based on the following question: What about the human experience is revealed through the various depictions of the quest motif of the unit texts?<sup>6</sup> (RL.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2, RI.9-10.1, RI.9-10.2, SL.9-10.1a-d, SL.9-10.4, SL.9-10.6)
4. Have students write a multi-paragraph personal narrative essay modeled after the experiences and structure of a selected character or story from the unit: Tell the story of your own personal quest or a challenge you faced and how, like Odysseus with the Sirens, Penelope with the suitors, or Phoenix with the woods, you grew from the challenge to reach a desired goal. (W.9-10.3a-e, W.9-10.4, W.9-10.10) Develop a theme through the narrative that reflects the value you place on the journey or the goal.
5. Have students generate multiple drafts of their essays, responding to feedback from the teacher and peers to improve language use and sentence structure, narrative techniques, or theme development. (W.9-10.4, W.9-10.5, L.9-10.1a-b; L.9-10.2a-c; L.9-10.6) Depending on student writing ability, determine the necessary support during the writing process (e.g., providing an organizational frame, modeling, showing models of strong and weak student work and providing descriptive feedback, sharing work as students go, etc.).
6. Prompt students to publish their writing using technology. (W.9-10.6)

<sup>4</sup> Extension Task: Students connect and extend their knowledge learned through texts in the unit to engage in research or writing. The research extension task extends the concepts studied in the set so students can gain more information about concepts or topics that interest them. The writing extension task either connects several of the texts together or is a narrative task related to the unit focus.

<sup>5</sup> <http://www.louisianabelieves.com/resources/classroom-support-toolbox/teacher-support-toolbox/lesson-assessment-planning-resources/whole-class>

<sup>6</sup> For example, students might examine how the situations that occur on Phoenix’s walk through the woods in “A Worn Path” symbolize the struggles, achievements, and failures that occur in human life and how Phoenix’s reactions to those situations set an example for how to maintain focus on a goal despite setbacks. Likewise, students might explore how the depiction of Penelope’s life as she awaits Odysseus’s return in “An Ancient Gesture” inspires patience and loyalty despite temptation and grief, or how Odysseus’s trials affect his character in The Odyssey.

INSTRUCTIONAL FRAMEWORK

In English language arts (ELA), students must learn to read, understand, and write and speak about grade-level texts independently. To do this, teachers must select appropriate texts and use those texts so students meet the standards, as demonstrated through ongoing assessments. To support students in developing independence with reading and communicating about complex texts, teachers should incorporate the following interconnected components into their instruction.

Whole-Class Instruction

This time is for grade-level instruction. Regardless of a student’s reading level, exposure to grade-level texts supports language and comprehension development necessary for continual reading growth. This plan presents sample whole-class tasks to represent how standards might be met at this grade level.

Small-Group Reading

This time is for supporting student needs that cannot be met during whole-class instruction. Teachers might provide:

1. intervention for students below grade level using texts at their reading level;
2. instruction for different learners using grade-level texts to support whole-class instruction;
3. extension for advanced readers using challenging texts.

Small-Group Writing

Most writing instruction is likely to occur during whole-class time. This time is for supporting student needs that cannot be met during whole-class instruction. Teachers might provide:

1. intervention for students below grade level;
2. instruction for different learners to support whole-class instruction and meet grade-level writing standards;
3. extension for advanced writers.

Independent Reading

This time is for increasing the volume and range of reading that cannot be achieved through other instruction but is necessary for student growth. Teachers can:

1. support growing reading ability by allowing students to read books at their reading level;
2. encourage reading enjoyment and build reading stamina and perseverance by allowing students to select their own texts in addition to teacher-selected texts.

LESSON 2: “Ithaka,” Constantine Cavafy Book One of The Odyssey, Homer	TEXT DESCRIPTION: “Ithaka” by Constantine Cavafy explores Ithaca as a symbol for a highly desired object that drives behavior and action. Book One of The Odyssey introduces the major characters and conflicts of the epic. TEXT FOCUS: “Ithaka” gives focus and purpose to the reading of The Odyssey. Students should closely read the invocation to the muse at the opening of Book One. Without a study of the poem and invocation, students may disengage from their reading of the epic because of the complexity of the text’s structure and its numerous characters. Orienting students to the major characters and conflicts will help them to maintain understanding as they read. Students should be guided into the understanding that Ithaca as it is described in Book One is not in an honorable state because of Odysseus’s prolonged absence, and that Odysseus will feel disrespected and dishonored by the suitors’ treatment of his wife, son, home, and property. MODEL TASKS LESSON OVERVIEW: Students read “Ithaka” to get a general understanding of the poem. Then they examine the invocation to the muse that opens the epic poem and understand how text structures (like prologues or invocations) provide the reader with an overview of the conflicts and major characters of a text. Students read Book One and begin analyzing Odysseus as an epic hero so that they can determine motivations and identify emerging themes. After reading Book One, students read “Ithaka” for the first time in the unit—they will return to the poem at the end of the unit—to understand Ithaca as the quest object in Odysseus’ journey in the epic. READ AND UNDERSTAND THE TEXT: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Read “Ithaka” aloud one time to students and ask them to underline unknown words and phrases (e.g., Ithaka, Laistrygonians, Cyclops, Poseidon). Odysseus moves through a range of intense emotions (grief, fear, pride, anger, etc.) as he leaves Calypso and makes his way home. His time with the Phaeacians in Books Seven and Eight reveal his cunning and Athena’s commitment to his return. “An Ancient Gesture” by Edna St. Vincent Millay provides a contemporary view of Penelope’s grief. TEXT FOCUS: These texts develop Odysseus’s character through a series of emotional and physical conflicts. “An Ancient Gesture” complements the two scenes in Books Five and Eight in which Odysseus is overwhelmed by grief for Ithaca and his family. Students can analyze how Odysseus develops as he interacts with Athena and the Phaeacian people. MODEL TASKS LESSON OVERVIEW: Students read and analyze a series of interactions in which Odysseus’s character becomes increasingly complex. The poem “Siren Song” by Margaret Atwood and the painting Ulysses and the Sirens by John William Waterhouse present the Sirens episode from different perspectives and allow students to consider how classical literature inspires contemporary authors and artists. TEXT FOCUS: The events of Books Nine through Twelve are flashbacks being told to the Phaeacians by Odysseus himself. The events of these books reveal how the trials Odysseus faces develop his character from the end of the Trojan War through his time with the Phaeacians. They also develop several themes of the text, including the effects of giving in to impiety, pride, impulse, and recklessness. The Sirens episode, poem, and painting can serve as a mid-unit practice for the Cold-Read Task. MODEL TASKS LESSON OVERVIEW: Students trace Odysseus’s character development from a proud war veteran to a broken, grieving husband and father.
