Executive Summary

The 2013 Fall Reading Report includes results from the administration of DIBELS Next, the mandated reading assessment of K-3 students in Louisiana public schools, and results from LDE approved alternate literacy assessments in three parish school systems. DIBELS Next and all approved alternate literacy assessments must be administered three times per academic year to K-3 students in all public schools in Louisiana, with the exception of charter schools, which are allowed to choose whether or not to administer DIBELS Next. Assessment of the reading abilities of second and third graders and reporting of results to the Louisiana Legislature each fall is required by state law: RS 17:182. The law gives the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education (BESE) the responsibility for selecting an assessment for this purpose and establishing regulations.

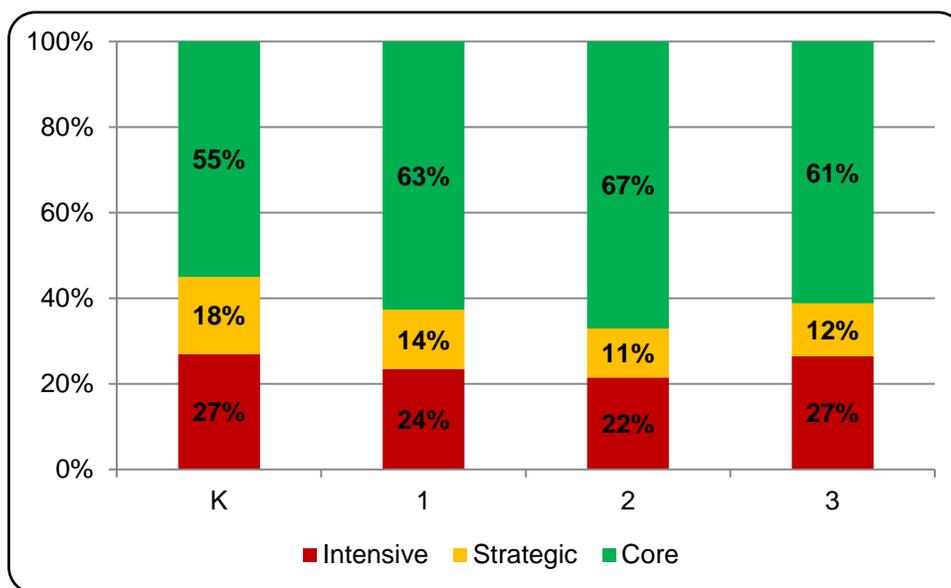

In 2010, BESE mandated that beginning in the fall of 2011, all public schools will administer DIBELS Next, the newest edition of DIBELS. The Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills (DIBELS) are a set of procedures and measures for assessing the acquisition of early literacy skills from kindergarten through sixth grade. DIBELS are short, individually administered measures of student proficiency in each of the key basic early literacy skills: phonemic awareness, alphabetic principle, accuracy and fluency with connected text, reading comprehension, and vocabulary. DIBELS were designed for use in identifying children experiencing difficulty in acquisition of basic early literacy skills in order to provide support early and prevent the occurrence of later reading difficulties. DIBELS measures are indicators of the skill area they are designed to assess. Just as a pediatrician measures a child's height and weight as a quick and efficient indicator of that child's physical development, each DIBELS measure is a quick and efficient indicator of how well a child is doing in learning a particular early reading skill, allowing educators to conduct further diagnosis as indicated and plan instruction accordingly.

Initial research on DIBELS was conducted at the University of Oregon in the late 1980s. Since then, an ongoing series of studies on DIBELS has documented the reliability and validity of the measures as well as their sensitivity to student change. The newest edition, DIBELS Next, was further refined based on research conducted by the Dynamic Management Group led by Dr. Roland Good. Additional information and research reports can be found on the Dynamic Management Group website at <https://dibels.org>.

The 2013-14 school year is the third year in which Louisiana has implemented the statewide use of DIBELS Next as a standard K-3 reading screener. DIBELS Next provides "composite" scores for all four grades. Fall reading assessment results prior to 2013 can be found on the Department of Education website at <http://www.louisianabelieves.com/resources/library/test-results>.

Pupils who demonstrated a core level of performance on DIBELS Next are considered on benchmark for their grade level with an 80% chance of continued success. Students scoring at strategic and those scoring intensive are considered below grade level and at risk of reading failure unless appropriate intervention is provided. Across the four grades (K-3), 61.5% of the 196,999 DIBELS-assessed Louisiana students were considered in Core (benchmark), 13.9% suggested a need for strategic intervention, and 24.6% suggested a need for intensive intervention. Second grade had the highest percent of students on core (benchmark), whereas some level of intervention was most needed in kindergarten and third grade.

Assessing Students’ Reading Abilities Using Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills (DIBELS Next)

The Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills (DIBELS Next) is a set of standardized, individually administered measures of early literacy development. They are short (1 minute) fluency measures designed to regularly monitor the development of foundational and early reading skills. The DIBELS Next measures are summarized as instructional recommendations. These recommendations are based on demonstrated skills appropriate at the particular grade level and the time of year.

The measures are based upon the essential early literacy domains discussed in both the National Reading Panel (2000) and National Research Council (1998) reports to assess student development of phonological awareness, alphabetic understanding, and automaticity and fluency with decoding. Each measure is a reliable indicator of early literacy development. The measures can also be used to predict whether children will be proficient readers in the future. They also aid in providing an early indication of whether a student is progressing as expected. When used as recommended, the results are a tool to evaluate individual student development as well as to provide grade-level feedback toward validated instructional objectives.

DIBELS Next results within this report are based on the specific assessments that were given to students within 30 days of the start of the 2013-14 school year. The DIBELS Next composite score is computed based on the mix of skills expected of the student and adjusted for each assessment period and grade level. Students are first assessed based on actual reading in the middle of first grade. As such, the composite score reported for kindergarten and first grade in this report is based on foundational skills. Second- and third- grade students' composite scores are based on appropriate oral reading, reading accuracy, and comprehension skills.

DIBELS Next provides teachers with core (benchmark) scores that students need to meet at specific times during each year and suggests instructional interventions that are needed by students who fail to meet core (benchmark) scores. Students who are in need of intervention may be divided into two categories: (a) those at some risk of reading failure and in need of strategic intervention, and (b) those at greater risk and therefore, in need of intensive intervention. Early diagnosis of specific reading difficulties, when matched with appropriate instruction, can help to ensure that the pupils progress in school and become successful lifelong learners.

Table 1 summarizes the Fall 2012 results and table 2 summarizes the Fall 2013 results from last year's students.

Currently the Louisiana Department of Education’s goal of students entering kindergarten ready is based on the DIBELS Next scores. As indicated above the scores have increased from 54.1% to 55.2%. Although Kindergarten readiness is improving, close to 50% of Louisiana’s children do not reach kindergarten ready to learn. Therefore, it is imperative that we continue to the implementation of the early childhood education initiatives that are leading to better outcomes for our youngest learners.

Additionally, the percentage of students meeting the benchmark grew in kindergarten, first, and second grades and remained steady in third grade.

Assessing Students’ Reading Abilities Using Alternate Reading Assessments

The 2013–14 school year is the first year in which Louisiana has allowed waivers to districts who requested to administer an assessment in lieu of DIBELS Next as their K–3 reading screener. A review committee made up of assessment staff, network staff, early literacy experts, and data staff considered applications from four districts, three of which were approved for administering an alternate assessment in place of DIBELS Next:

- Jefferson Parish chose to use Fountas and Pinnell Benchmark Assessment System (Heinemann, 2010) as an alternate to DIBELS Next for grades K-2 only.
- Lincoln Parish chose Reading A to Z (Cambium Learning Technologies, 2002) for grades K-3.
- Tangipahoa Parish chose Scholastic Reading Inventory (Scholastic, Inc., 2006) for grade 3.

The three approved alternate assessments were evaluated and found to be reliable, research-based, and nationally recognized K-3 literacy assessment. LEAs utilizing alternate assessments committed to monitoring the progress of children in literacy achievement in grades K-3 by administering the chosen assessment at least three times during the academic year during the same benchmark windows provided by the LDE for DIBELS Next assessment and adhering to the test security procedures required for the DIBELS Next assessment.

The Data Tables for DIBELS Next Results

Data were downloaded from the DIBELS Next Data System on October 31, 2013. The tables below include:

- DIBELS Next schools and their composite score percentage on each benchmark for Fall 2013 (Tables 3-6).

To protect the privacy of students, the following rules for redaction were applied.

- Thirty-two districts and schools with fewer than 10 reportable students per grade level were omitted (see Table 6 below).
- Percentages less than 5% and/or greater than 95% were reported as <5% and >95%, respectively.
- Alternate assessment results for approximately 212 students with significant hearing, visual, or cognitive impairments were not included in this report.

The Data Tables for Alternate Assessment Results

Data were submitted by districts during October 2013. The tables below include district, school, and grade-specific percentages of students classified by benchmark/performance level (as determined by each alternate assessment) for Fall 2013. Jefferson Parish submitted data using Fountas and Pinnell Benchmark Assessment System for all K-2 students; Lincoln Parish used Reading A to Z for all K-3 students; and Tangipahoa Parish issued Scholastic Reading Inventory to students in third grade only as an alternate to DIBELS Next (Tables 1-3).

To protect the privacy of students, the following rules for redaction were applied:

- One site from Jefferson Parish and one site from Tangipahoa Parish with fewer than 10 reportable students per grade level were omitted (see Table footnotes).
- Percentages less than 5% and/or greater than 95% were reported as <5% and >95%, respectively. Additional suppression was carried out in an effort to preserve the percentage of students categorized as, “On-Level”, consistent with “% Core” for DIBELS Next data.
